MARGIN RESERVED FOR BINDING
NO MUTILATED CERTIFICATE WILL BE RECEIVED

The certificate records birth in January 1867 and death on May 13, 1925, aged 58. The headstone (#17) gives age 69, while the naturalization papers (#15) give November 5, 1858. These records disagree about his birth date and age; the existing profile dates are retained pending review.

Abraham B. and Shandel Silverstein — shared headstone, photographed by Rachel in 2008

The inscription records Shandel: died February 18, 1926, aged 64; Abraham B.: died May 13, 1925, aged 69. Existing profile dates are retained pending further review. Photograph by Rachel, 2008; emailed to Bill on October 18, 2026, in response to his email about the family website. Death certificate #16 records January 1867 and age 58, conflicting with the headstone age of 69.

Celia “Ceil” Silverstein Goldberg and her three sons — proposed names

Suggested identification of the three boys, left to right: Morris Herbert “Mel” Goldberg (youngest, born January 18, 1931); Sherman “Chach” Goldberg (born March 10, 1929; Charles Sherman “Chachi” in the main file); Arthur Bernard Goldberg (oldest, born November 11, 1926). This placement is inferred from their apparent ages and Rachel’s recorded birth dates; individual positions are not confirmed. Celia is identified in Caren’s family notes. Family members: please confirm or correct each boy’s position, the name variants, and the man at the far right.

Lena Silverstein’s 65th birthday party

Lena’s 65th birthday party. Bill’s supplied family description names Artie, Marcia, Lena, Gloria, little Michael (described by the original writer as “our son”), and Larry. It describes Natie as seated at the back left, Grandma’s friends to Natie’s left, and Uncle Joe and Murray (Aunt Bea’s husband) to Natie’s right. It also identifies Uncle Adolph and Anna, his wife, behind the person called “dad” in the original wording. The other women are described as Lena’s friends. The identity of “dad” and the exact positions of every attendee are not resolved by this description. Calendar date remains unverified.

York 1 — The Origins of Rose Silverstein

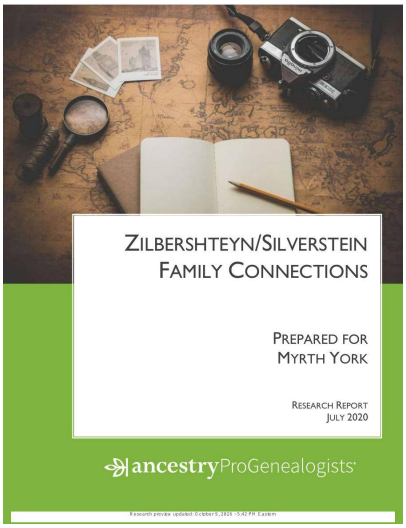

Open the complete report (PDF)

AncestryProGenealogists research report prepared for Myrth York, December 2019. Open the complete 9-page PDF, including the cover. The 2019 report traces Rose Esther Silverstein, also called Ete Rukhla Zilbershteyn, from the former Russian Empire to New York. It identifies her 1877 marriage to Yuda Leib (Louis) Fruks in Nikolayev and the family's 1892 journey through Hamburg to Boston. It names her father as Yosef/Yos, challenges the Argentina birthplace and parent names on her death certificate, and extends Louis's Fruks ancestry through revision lists back to the early 1800s. Rose's mother remained unidentified, and the exact town meant by Stryzhevka was unresolved. The report also identified Avrum Ber as a possible brother. Corrections and cautions: Age conflict: The report says Rose was 62 when she died in March 1925, but also reports her age as 18 at the August 1877 marriage. Those ages imply different birth years, roughly 1862–1863 versus 1858–1859. Neither age should silently become an exact birth date. Birthplace remains imprecise: The report identifies Stryzhevka but cannot determine which place of that name is meant. It does not establish a precise modern birthplace. Mother not identified: The report disputes the death certificate's Argentina story and the parent names John Siberez and Rosa Simpson. That does not establish the correct mother's name; the report itself leaves her unidentified.

Photo 31

York 2 — Zilbershteyn/Silverstein Family Connections

Open the complete report (PDF)

AncestryProGenealogists research report prepared for Myrth York, July 2020. Open the complete 11-page PDF, including the cover. The 2020 follow-up connects Rose Esther with Abraham Bernard Silverstein and Sonya/Semah. Its strongest American clue is Abraham's 1907 passenger list naming his sister, "Ms. Frooks," at 225 Chrystie Street. Comparing that clue with directories and Nikolayev birth and marriage indexes, the researchers concluded that Avrum Ber and Abraham were the same man, and Shendel Tsipros was Sophie Cypress. They also concluded that Rose's parents were Yosef/Joseph and Freidel/Freda Bornstein. The report identifies additional children, including Sara-Dvora and a possible Malka, and investigates Sonya's Cypress family. The DNA review neither confirmed nor contradicted the proposed connections. The Ukrainian findings relied on index transcripts; original records were recommended for follow-up. Corrections and cautions: Birthplace overstatement: The introduction says the earlier research proved Rose was born in Nikolayev. York 1 instead identified Stryzhevka as her origin and left its location uncertain. A marriage in Nikolayev does not itself establish birth there. Business link overstated: The body says ownership of Frooks Engine Company was not proved; the conclusion describes the Chrystie Street business as Louis's. The proposed business connection is supporting inference, not demonstrated ownership. Shared mother is an inference: The report concludes Rose's mother was Freda Bornstein from the proposed sibling connection and Abraham's records. It also says Rose's marriage record names no mother. Shared fatherhood alone does not prove shared motherhood; the report's conclusion should be attributed, not described as a direct reading of Rose's record. Marriage and Malka remain qualified: A child's birth does not prove the parents had already married. Malka is explicitly only a possible child in this report. The later date and parent-name questions remain open; they do not establish that she and Chernya had different mothers. DNA did not confirm the family link: The DNA review found neither supporting nor contradictory evidence. An absence of contradictory matches is not a positive DNA confirmation.

September 11, 2001 — the World Trade Center before, during and after the attacks

Open the complete report (PDF)

On September 11, 2001, al-Qaeda hijackers attacked the United States using four passenger aircraft. At 8:46 a.m., American Airlines Flight 11 struck the World Trade Center’s North Tower. At 9:03 a.m., United Airlines Flight 175 struck the South Tower. The South Tower collapsed at 9:59 a.m.; the North Tower followed at 10:28 a.m. The attacks killed 2,977 people, including 2,753 in New York. Rescue, recovery and rebuilding transformed the site in the years that followed.

David J. Dubin and Miriam “Mimi” Silver Dubin — gravestone

Miriam “Mimi” Silver Dubin: September 9, 1924–April 23, 2015. David J. Dubin: April 3, 1923–February 26, 2009. ה״בצנת is a standard memorial phrase, not a Hebrew name or father’s name. We do not know why there are two headstones.

David J. Dubin and Miriam “Mimi” Silver Dubin — upright memorial monument

A distinct upright monument with a fuller inscription; photograph date and whether it replaced the monument in #58 are unconfirmed. David J.: “Beloved husband, devoted father, loving grandfather,” April 3, 1923–February 26, 2009. Miriam “Mimi”: “Beloved wife, devoted mother, loving grandmother,” September 9, 1924–April 23, 2015. “Forever in our hearts.” We do not know why there are two headstones.

Family group photograph — circa 1966; identifications need confirmation

Needs confirmation — Rachel’s review pending. Bill’s tentative identifications include Larry A. Silverstein seated, Klara (Clara / Etta) Apat Silverstein, Sharon about age six, and possibly Robert Dubin’s parents standing behind. Circa 1966 and a possible Bar Mitzvah setting remain tentative. Earlier caption retained in the source record: 1966 Bar Mitzvah family photograph supplied by Robert Dubin. Bill identifies his mother Gloria in red, his father Larry seated next to her, and Larry’s brother Artie and sister-in-law Marsha standing above them. The earlier tentative identification of Celia (“Ceil”) in front remains unconfirmed; her precise position is not established.

Probable parents of Kate Cypress — two vintage portraits

Probably Morris “Moishe” Cypress and Sema/Sarah Silverstein Cypress, Kate Cypress’s parents. The associated envelope reads “Kate Mother Father Pictures”; Bob believed its handwriting was David Silver’s. This supports a probable identification, not proof. Bill recalls receiving the material around March 2019; exact email date unverified. He also reports a photo email dated December 5, 2019; the dates must not be treated as interchangeable.

Joseph Silverstein — newspaper report of his death, 1928

Added by: Avery on 20 Oct 2024

The clipping reports a coroner’s jury finding that Joseph Silverstein, a Detroit violin maker, died by suicide by hanging in Tucson. It reports testimony about a letter from an unnamed son; the son’s identity and a single definitive motive are not established. The newspaper name and publication date are not visible in this supplied screenshot. The Arizona death certificate records March 18, 1928.

Joseph Silverstein — gravestone, Hebrew Memorial Park, 1928

The stone reads “Joseph Silverstein,” “Beloved husband, dear father,” “Mar. 17, 1928 — Age 49.” Musical notes appear above his name. Hebrew Memorial Park, Clinton Township, Macomb County, Michigan; Old section, grave 62; Find a Grave memorial 169445645. Gravestone photograph credited to Gerard Brownstone. The memorial screenshot gives 1884 and Phoenix, but those website entries conflict with the stone’s age 49 and the Arizona certificate’s Tucson location and March 18, 1928 death date. The cemetery burial record reports age 44, death in Tucson on March 18, interment March 23, 1928, and son Samuel as informant. These disagreements remain unresolved. No relationship to Abraham and Sophie has been established.
